THE SECOND BATCH OF

AHA CENTRE EXECUTIVE (ACE) PROGRAMME

The AHA Centre Executive (ACE) Programme is a new capability development programme designed for senior leaders in public and private institutions in the Asia-Pacific region. The programme is a component of the AHA Centre’s efforts to develop future leaders for the region.

The programme is aimed at developing leaders who are capable of making strategic decisions, managing complex projects, and leading teams in a dynamic and challenging environment. Participants are expected to gain a deeper understanding of the region’s political, economic, and social landscape, as well as the cultural and linguistic diversity of the region.

The programme is delivered in a series of modules, each covering a different aspect of leadership development. Participants will have the opportunity to interact with leading experts in the region, as well as with other participants from diverse backgrounds.

The programme also includes a variety of activities, including keynote speeches, panel discussions, and workshops. Participants will be able to network with other leaders and gain insights into best practices in leadership development.

The programme is open to individuals from public and private institutions in the Asia-Pacific region. Participants will be selected based on their leadership potential and their commitment to developing their skills.
